The Humble Addreſs of the Mayor, Aldermen and Common-Council of the City of Exeter, was preſented to Her Majeſty by his Grace the Duke of Ormond, High-Steward of the ſaid City.

Which Addreſſes her Majeſty received very graciouſly.

From the Camp at Havre, September 26. N. S. The great Convoy of Artillery and Ammunition for the Siege of Mons arrived yeſterday from Bruſſels, having met with no Diſturbance on the way, and the Waggons and Horſes were immediately ſent back for another Convoy. In the Evening the Trenches were opened at two ſeveral Attacks, one at the Port of Bertaimons, and the other at the Port of Havre. The firſt Attack was commanded by a Major General, with a Brigadier, four Battalions and two thouſand Workmen; and the other by a Brigadier, with two Battalions, and one thouſand Workmen. The Approaches at both Attacks were carried on with good Succeſs. Lieutenant-General Cadogan was wounded, at the breaking Ground at the Port of Havre, by a Shot in the Neck; but we hope he is in no danger. This Day about Noon the Enemy made a Sally upon the Right of our Trenches at the Port of Havre with about five hundred Men, and put our Workmen at firſt into ſome Diſorder, but were ſoon beaten back again with conſiderable Loſs. The Enemy continue in their former Camp near Queſnoy, from whence they have ſent more Troops to reinforce the Troops Commanded by the Chevalier de Luxembourg and Monſieur de Toulongeon. Since the late Battel we have twenty four freſh Battalions come to the Camp out of our Garriſons, whereof four Engliſh, the reſt Dutch, and have ſent away fourteen of the weakeſt Battalions to ſupply their Places.

From the Camp at Havre, September 30. N.S. On the 26th we attacked the Redoubt of Nimy near the Road from Mons to Bruſſels, which our Men immediately made themſelves Maſters of, and took the Lieutenant (who commanded in it) and thirty Bavarian Granadiers, with two Pieces of Braſs Cannon, and a good quantity of Powder and Ball, without any other loſs than one Man wounded. The next Day Lieutenant-General Wilkes joined the Army with his Detachment of five Battalions and ten Squadrons from Deullement, having been employed in Conducting the Artillery from Tournay down the Schelde and round to Bruſſels. This Day another Convoy of Artillery and Ammunition arrived from Bruſſels, ſo that we have now the greateſt part of what is thought neceſſary for carrying on the Siege. Our Approaches at the two Attacks are hitherto carried on with as much Succeſs as the continued Rains we have had for three days paſt will permit; and we have three Batteries finiſhed at each Attack, which will be ready to fire to Morrow Morning. The Enemy are drawing Lines from Valenciennes to Queſnoy, and have marked out another Line from thence to Beaumont on the Sambre. The ſeveral Regiments having brought in an Account of the Trophies taken from the Enemy at the late Battel; they are found to be twenty Colours, ſix and twenty Standards, and four Pair of Kettle-Drums. We have likewiſe ſixteen Pieces of their Cannon, beſides near four hundred Officers, eighty of whom are of the Houſhold of France.

From the Camp at Havre, October 3. N. S. On Tueſday the firſt Inſtant Major General Ivoy was ordered with a Detachment to attack the Hornwork and Redoubt of Eſpinlieu, without the Port du Parc, leading from Mons to Tournay: Four Pieces of Cannon and two Hawitzers only were made uſe of in this Service, and they had not fired above three Rounds, when the Enemy ſeeing our Men, who had marched a conſiderable way up to their Waſtes in Water, ready to make an Aſſault, ſubmitted; there was a Captain, two Lieutenants, and ſixty four Men, made Priſoners of War. Theſe Forts covered the Mills where the Beſieged grind the greateſt part of their Corn; and we found in them above forty Sacks of Meal, beſides two pieces of Braſs Cannon, and a good quantity of Ammunition. We had no manner of Loſs on our ſide. Our Batteries, at the two Attacks, have fired theſe three Days with good Succeſs upon the Enemy's Defences; and we have made a conſiderable progreſs in our Approaches, notwithſtanding the badneſs of the Weather. Monſieur Roſencrans, who is ſent by the King of Denmark with the Character of Envoy to her Majeſty, came hither yeſterday to wait upon his Grace the Duke of Marlborough. The Enemy continue to work with great application upon their Lines between Valenciennes and Queſnoy.
